

DocMind AI System Architecture

DocMind AI is an intelligent document research assistant. It uses client-side page-aware text extraction and

Experimental Methodology and Performance

The evaluation was conducted on 50 technical papers. Average retrieval latency is 14 milliseconds per query.

Limitations and Future Roadmap

The current system does not support scanned handwritten documents without an OCR layer. Future versions